VOL. XXVII., No. 24.

NEW YORK, June 13, 1885.

WHOLE NO. 698.

D. APPLETON & CO.

PUBLISH JUNE 13TH:

Volume Two of McMaster's "History of the United States."

A History of the People of the United States,

FROM THE REVOLUTION TO THE CIVIL WAR. By JOHN BACH McMASTER. Volume Two. 8vo, 676 pages, cloth, gilt top. Price $2.50.

The second volume of McMaster's "History of the People of the United States" extends from 1790 to 1804, including the greater part of the administration of Washington, all of that of Adams, and the first term of Jefferson. It will be found to be a singularly vivid and stirring picture of the period, throwing not a little new light on many political questions, and affording an insight into the manners and social condition of the people not elsewhere to be found; while some of its portraits of leading men are likely to provoke considerable discussion.

Selections from the Prose Writings of Jonathan Swift.

With Preface and Notes by STANLEY LANE-POOLE. "Parchment Series." With Portrait. 16mo, antique, gilt top. Price, $1.25.

"Selections have their justification. They serve a double object—to introduce and to remind. They provide the unadventurous reader with the easiest way to learn a little of an author he feels he ought to know; and they recall the fruits of fuller study to the memories of those who have passed on to other fields."—From the Preface.

The Common Sense of the Exact Sciences.

By the late WILLIAM KINGDON CLIFFORD. Volume Fifty of the "International Scientific Series." 12mo, cloth. Price, $1.50.

"My sole desire has been to give to the public, as soon as possible, another work of one whose memory will be revered by all who have felt the invigorating influence of his thoughts. Completed by another hand, we can only hope that it will perform some, if but a small part, of the service which it would undoubtedly have fulfilled had the master lived to put it forth."—From Editor's Preface.

Colonel Enderby's Wife.

A NOVEL. By LUCAS MALET, author of "Mrs. Lorimer: A Sketch." 12mo, paper. Price, 50 cents. Authorized edition.

As in the case of "Mrs. Lorimer," the authorship of this book is veiled under the pseudonym of "Lucas Malet," but it is now generally known that the writer is Mrs. Harrison, daughter of Charles Kingsley.

Part Three of Owen Meredith's New Poem.

Glenaveril; or, the Metamorphoses.

By LORD LYTTON (OWEN MEREDITH, author of "Lucile"). To be published in Six Monthly Parts.

Part Three. 12mo, paper. Price, 25 cents.

The third part of "Glenaveril" is of thrilling interest. As a romance in verse "Glenaveril" is destined to take very high rank.

New Cheap Edition of "Uncle Remus."

Uncle Remus:

HIS SONGS AND HIS SAYINGS. The Folk-Lore of the Old Plantation. By JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS.

Illustrated. New Cheap Edition, paper cover. Price, 50 cents.

A cheap edition of the famous, bright, and shrewd sayings of Uncle Remus will undoubtedly introduce this admirable type of the old Southern negro to a large number of new readers.

D. APPLETON & CO., Publishers, 1, 3, & 5 Bond Street, New York.

A. N. MARQUIS & CO.'S NEW BOOKS.

Now Ready. 16mo, cloth, 60 cents.

VOICE—USE AND STIMULANTS.

Containing the Experience in Abstract and Detail of nearly 400 Professional Singers, Actors, Statesmen, etc. By LENNOX BROWNE, F.R.C.S. Edin., Senior Surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital, Surgeon and Aural Surgeon to the Royal Society of Musicians, author of "The Throat and its Diseases," "Medical Hints on the Singing Voice," "Science and Singing," etc. Joint author of "Voice, Song and Speech;" and also of "The Child's Voice."

THE CHILD'S VOICE.

ITS TREATMENT WITH REGARD TO AFTER DEVELOPMENT, containing the experience in Abstract and Detail of over 200 Teachers, and over 600 Students, by EMIL BEHNKE, Lecturer on Vocal Physiology and Teacher of Voice Production; author of the "Mechanism of the Human Voice," co-author of "Voice, Song and Speech," and of "Voice-Training Exercises," and LENNOX BROWNE, F. R. C. S., ED.

Ready Shortly.

THE FIRST THREE YEARS OF CHILDHOOD.

MARQUIS' HAND-BOOK OF CHICAGO:

A complete Reference Book, History, and Guide to the City. Illustrated with over 100 Wood and Photo Engravings. The work contains information about almost every subject pertaining to Chicago, and the matter is so arranged and indexed as to afford the greatest facility for reference. Everything is fully described, and nothing of importance or interest to the stranger, or resident to the city, is left unmentioned.

The Chicago Evening Journal says: ". . . We willingly indorse the statement of its publishers, that it contains more real information about the city than all other books combined."

The Chicago Tribune says: "It is in every respect what the preface of the work says it is, an illustrated epitome of the history of Chicago. The illustrations are faithful copies of photographs, and are reproduced upon the pages of the book with great accuracy and neatness."

The Chicago Herald says: "It is the handsomest and best book of the kind ever published."

The Saturday Evening Herald says: "It is a comprehensive, accurate, therefore very useful review of the leading features of this great city. It is second in value to no other work of a similar nature ever issued."

The Inter Ocean says: "It is a handsomely printed and substantially bound volume of 336 pages, fully illustrated. It opens up with a concise, well written sketch of early Chicago, its wonderful history of disaster and success, and then describes the Chicago of to-day. It is concise and complete."

The Cincinnati Enquirer says: ". . . Copiously illustrated, and may be styled an illustrated epitome of the Windy City by the Lake."

Cincinnati Commercial Gazette says: "A book creditable to the city and to the publishers. . . represents Chicago as Sir Boyle Roche might say, from the time when it was nothing but the mouth of a sluggish little river creeping through a flat region of dunes to the lake. . . It will be equally useful for the visitor and citizen and deserves a place in the library for its historical matter."

The Boston Transcript says: "It gives a comprehensive view of the leading features of the great Western metropolis. . . It has been compiled with great care and will be found an accurate guide to strangers visiting Chicago, as well as a handy book of reference for residents. . . A handsome as well as a valuable volume."

The Boston Advertiser says: "It contains a fund of ready information, which ought to be of service to those who would know something of the leading features of the great metropolis of the west."

With these new editions of the work, the price has been reduced from $1.50 to $1.00 for cloth binding, and a large number of copies bound in tasteful paper covers, price, 60 cents, to meet the demand from summer travelers, etc., for a cheaper edition at a popular price.

NOTES IN SEASON.

JOHN WILEY & SONS have ready the new cheap edition of Ruskin's works, in twelve volumes, with all the engravings, but without the plates. The edition is neatly bound in cloth, and put up in a box at $12 the set. The new edition, with all the plates, colored and plain, will be ready (excepting the "Stones of Venice") next week, and the lacking volumes may be expected about July 1st.

THE BALTIMORE PUBLISHING CO. have now completed the new edition of the "Works of Rt. Rev. John England, Bishop of Charleston, S.C.", edited by Hugh P. McElrone. The work is in two large octavo volumes, printed from large open type. The first volume contains, besides a memoir of Bishop England, memorials of respect after his death, and a finely engraved frontispiece portrait of the bishop, and his literary and historical productions. The second volume contains his controversial writings, and a full index.

GILL & CO. will publish next week "A New High School Music Reader," by Julius Eichberg. Next month they will issue "School Hygiene," a series of six lectures, delivered under the auspices of the Massachusetts Emergency and Hygiene Association, to teachers in the public schools of Boston, by Drs. Frank Wells, F. W. Draper, C. H. Williams, G. B. Shattuck, and Charles F. Folcom; also "Outlines of Practical Philosophy," by Hermann Lotze, translation edited by George T. Ladd, Professor of Philosophy, Yale College.

CASSELL & CO. will publish shortly a book of hunting adventure by Lieutenant Frederick Schwatka, entitled "Nimrod in the North." The author has, in this narrative, confined himself almost exclusively to such scenes and adventures as came within his personal knowledge a few years since, in the region north of Hudson's Bay, and more recently, in the interior of Alaska. He describes in a general way the life of the sportsman in the frozen north, his camps, his sledges, and the native hunter and his weapons, and the animals that furnish the sport.

A. N. MARQUIS & CO., Chicago, has published two books on the voice, the one being entitled "Voice—Use and Stimulants," containing the experience in abstract and detail of nearly four hundred professional singers, actors, lawyers, and others, by Lennox Browne; and the other, "The Child's Voice: Its Treatment with Regard to After Development," by Emil Behnke and Lennox Browne, joint authors of "Voice, Song, and Speech." They will also publish at once "The Tinted Venus," the new story by F. Anstey, the author of "Vice Versa," etc.; "Forewarned," by E. M. Abdy-Williams, a sensational story after the manner of those by Hugh Conway; and new editions of "Marquis' Hand-Book of Chicago: a Complete History, Reference Book and Guide to the City," with over one hundred illustrations.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BOSTON, MASS.—After July 1 Mr. Charles H. Whiting's address will be 168 Devonshire St.

NEW YORK CITY.—Edgar S. Werner, publisher of The Voice, and works treating of oratorical, dramatic, and vocal art in all its phases, has removed from Albany to 48 University Place, this city.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Newsdealers' and Stationers' Co-operative Supply Co. is the name of a new company recently organized in the interests of the trade by the officers of the newsdealers' National Association of America. The objects of this company are the purchasing, carrying, distribution, and sale of all kinds of newspapers, periodicals, and other printed matter. The officers are: President, Stephen Richardson, of New York; Vice-President, C. W. Zieber, of Philadelphia; Secretary, Henry Hill, of New Jersey. The amount of capital is $50,000, in shares of $10 each. The principal office is at 198 William St., with branches at 10 Franklin St. and 512 6th Ave. The men who are at the head of this movement (the officers of the National Association) have been in the business for years—many of them from boyhood—and are thoroughly educated in all its branches and details, fully understanding the wants of the trade. We wish the new movement all success.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—C. E. Morris, bookseller and stationer, Rochester, N. Y., will remove about August 1 to 16 West Main St. and 17 State St., the elevator entrance of Powers Block. Mr. Morris intends to fit up his new store in the most luxurious manner. The cases will be of mahogany. The counters will be edged with black marble and the baseboards will be of the same material.

- Daudet, Alphonse. Sidonie (Fromont jeune et Risler aîné); from the French by Mary Neal Sherwood. N. Y., J: W. Lovell Co., [1885.] 262 p. S. (Lovell's lib., no. 604.) pap., 20 c.
- Davidson, Mary M. Silk: its history and manufacture; from the earliest ages to the present time, including instructions for silk culture on Osage orange or mulberry. New Orleans, J. C. Eyrich, 1885. 203 p. il. D. cl., $1; pap., 60 c.
- Davis, Rev. J. A. Choh Lin; the Chinese boy who became a preacher. Phil., Presb. Bd. of Pub., [1885.] 2-320 p. il. S. cl., $1.15.
- This is said to be a true story, all the incidents having happened to the little Chinese boy who is the hero, but whose true name is withheld. A very perfect picture is given of the daily life of a Chinese family, from the birth of the hero, with the attending ceremonies, and through his childhood and school-days, his final conversion to Christianity, his mission work, and so on. In the form of a story.
- Dickens, C. The mystery of Edwin Drood. N. Y., G: Munro, [1885.] 181 p. S. (Seaside lib., pocket ed., no. 454.) pap., 20 c.
- Dodgson, C. L. ["Lewis Carroll," pseud.] Alice's adventures in wonderland. N. Y., G: Munro, [1885.] 9-199 p. S. (Seaside lib., pocketed, no. 462.) pap., 20 c.
- Fenn, G. Manville. Poverty Corner ("a little world"): a city story. N. Y., Cassell & Co., 1885. 2+383 p. S. cl., $1.
- A well-told tale of the old-fashioned type, full of description, action, and incident, without the modern analysis of character and motive. Scene laid in London. Richard Pellet, the rich, successful, unscrupulous city man, and his brother, Jared Pellet, the poor organist, with the loving wife and many ill-fed, ill-clothed children, are the chief heroes. There are many characters, vividly described, and there is a generous profusion of insanity, bigamy, theft, detective work, cruelty to children, mysterious disappearance, etc. All turns out as it should; the good are rewarded, the bad punished, in the correct old-fashioned way, and the author of "The clerk of Portwick," "Middy and ensign," and the "Parson o' Dumford" has again produced a most readable novel.
- Foster, W. E. References to political and economic topics; to accompany a series of lectures delivered in Providence. R. I., 1884-'85, under the auspices of the First Congregational parish. Providence, R. I., Providence Press Co., 1885. 27 p. D. pap. [For free distribution.]
- *Gombo Zhèbes: little dictionary of Creole proverbs; selected from six Creole dialects; tr. into French and into English with notes, complete index to subjects, and some brief remarks upon Creole idioms of Louisiana, by L. Hearn. New Orleans, J. C. Eyrich, 1885. O. cl., $1.
- Guild, Reuben Aldridge. Chaplain Smith and the Baptists; or, life, journals, letters and addresses of the Rev. Hezekiah Smith, D.D., of Haverhill, Mass., 1737-1805. Phil., American Baptist Pub. Soc., [1885.] 2-429 p. D. cl., $2.
- Hezekiah Smith, D.D., a century ago, was a prominent figure among the Baptist ministers of the United States. During the Revolutionary War he was chaplain in the American army, and his diary is full of the interest which the notes of such an observer of current and stirring events might naturally be expected to possess. Before he entered the army he was pastor of the Baptist Church at Haverhill, Mass., and resumed his labors there at the end of the war.
- Hackländer, T. W. Forbidden fruit; from the German, by Rosalie Kaufman. N. Y., J: W. Lovell Co., [1885.] 3-262 p. S. (Lovell's lib., no. 606.) pap., 20 c.
- Hardy, Arthur Sherburne. But yet a woman: a novel. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1885. 3-348 p. S. (The Riverside pap. ser., no. 1) pap., 50 c.
- The first issue of a new series of novels, by the best American authors.
- Hathaway, B. A. 1001 questions and answers on English grammar. Lebanon, O., published by the author, [B. A. Hathaway,] 1884. 136 p. S. cl., 50 c.
- Hathaway, B. A. 1001 questions and answers on geography. Lebanon, O., published by the author, [B. A. Hathaway,] 1883. 116 p. S. cl., 50 c.
- Hathaway, B. A. 1001 questions and answers

* In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefixed asterisk, and this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record. This list will be reprinted, verbatim, with all the notices of the books received, in the TRADE LIST ANNUAL.

- on United States history, including the constitution and amendments. Lebanon, O., published by the author, [B. A. Hathaway,] 1882. 99 p. S. cl., 50 c.
- *Hawkins, Francis Vaughan. Concise treatise on the construction of wills; with notes and ref. to Am. decisions by J. Sword. 2d Am. ed., with additional notes and ref., by F. M. Leonard. Phil., T. & J. W. Johnson & Co., 1885. 56+355 p. O. shp., $5.
- Hector, Mrs. Annie F., ["Mrs. Alexander," pseud.] A second life: a novel. N. Y., H. Holt & Co., 1885. 2+472 p. S. (Leisure hour ser., no. 163.) cl., $1; Same, S. (Leisure moment ser.) pap., 35 c.
- One of the stories of English domestic life, full of little details and rich in character sketching and incidents, that Mrs. Alexander is so successful in writing. Mildred Carr and her mother are thrown upon the world's cold mercy through the sudden death and unfortunate speculations of the father and husband. To give her mother a home, Mildred is induced to marry Mark Welby, a successful and wealthy business man, hiding under a rather attractive exterior a mean and selfish nature. After a short experience of married life, Mildred learns to hate and loathe her husband, and dwells continually upon the possibility of escaping from him. She conceives an ingenious plan, by which she is supposed to be lost in a crevasse in crossing the Mer de Glace, in the Swiss Alps. Dead to all the world but one or two who are in her confidence, she begins her "second life," under an assumed name, and under very novel circumstances. The story of this "second life" is full of romance, and well carried out.
- *Historical sketch-book and guide to New Orleans and environs, with map; illustrated with original engravings, and containing accounts of the traditions, historical legends, and remarkable localities of the Creole City. New Orleans, J. C. Eyrich, 1885. Sq. D. cl., $1; pap., 75 c.
- Hunton, Dan. T. V. The Province laws; their value, and the progress of the new edition. Bost., Cupples, Upham & Co., 1885. 24 p. O. pap., 25 c.
- The governor of Massachusetts, having in a recent message questioned the expediency of expending any more money in the republication of the early laws of Mass., of which up to the present time four volumes have been issued, the author of this pamphlet was moved to set forth the usefulness of the work, its purpose and so on, doubting if the public generally is fully informed upon the subject.
- Jagst, A. First lessons in German reading. N. Y., Cassell & Co., 1885. 3-93 p. il. D. bds., 40 c.
- Little stories in prose and verse for very young children; they are simple, short, and amusing, and better adapted to very young students than the majority of readings in German prepared for them.
- Jefferies, R. After London; or, wild England. N. Y., Cassell & Co., 1885. 5+442 p. D. cl., $1.50.
- A romance of the future, by the author of "The game-keeper at home," "Wood magic," etc. It is divided into two parts, the first being a series of chapters describing the condition of England after its "Relapse into barbarism," in the distant future. With the second part, "Wild England," begins the story. It is a simple one of love and adventure, deriving its chief interest from the quaint presentation of the scenes and characters. England is represented as semi-barbarous, with some traditions of the past, when printing was known, and England had a literature. The story is certainly ingenious, and full of effective descriptions and philosophical deductions.
- *Landois, L. M.D. Manual of human physiology, including histology and microscopical anatomy; with special reference to the requirements of practical medicine; from the 4th German ed., with additions by W. Stirling, M. D. V. I. Phil., P. Blakiston, Son & Co., 1885. 31+514 p. O. cl., $4.50.
- *Lansdell, H.; D.D. Russian Central Asia, including Kuldja, Bokhara, Khiva, and Merv; with appendices on the fauna and flora of Russian Turkistan, a map, a photograph of the author in Khokand armor, and over sixty ill. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1885. 2 v. O. cl., $10.
- *Larned, E. C. A critical analysis of Drummond's "Natural law in the spiritual world," with a reply to some of its conclusions. Chic., Jansen, McClurg & Co., 1885. 46 p. O. pap., 40 c.
- Lean, Mrs. Francis, [formerly Florence Marryat.] The heart of Jane Warner: a novel. N. Y., G. Munro, [1885.] 2-214 p. S. (Seaside lib., pocket ed., no. 444.) pap., 20 c.
- Martin, Mrs. Clara Barnes. Mount Desert, on the coast of Maine. 6th ed. Portland, Me., Loring, Short & Harmon, 1885. 5-115 p. map and il. S. cl., 75 c.
- Merriman, M. Text-book on the mechanics of engineering. N. Y., J. Wiley & Sons, 1885. O. cl., $2.
- Miller, Mary C. Judge Greene's note-book. Phil., Presb. Bd. of Pub., [1885.] 311 p. il. S. (The Reformation ser.) cl., $1.15.
- The concluding volume of the series. A lively narrative of scenes abroad, of thrilling tales of the sufferings of the witnesses for the truth in England and France, with reminiscences of Geneva, Zurich and Basle, and descriptions of the sights of modern Rome, and of the places in Germany where Protestantism was born and grew to be a power in Europe.
- *New Mexico. Compiled laws in accordance with an act of the legislature, approved April 3, 1884, incl. the Constitution of the U. S., the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, the Gadsden treaty, the act organizing the territory, the organic acts as now in force, the Kearny code, and a list of laws enacted since the compilation of 1865. E. L. Bartlett, C. W. Greene, Santiago Valdez, commissioners; Irene L. Chaves, sec. [Spanish and English text.] Santa Fé, New Mexican Print. Co., 1885. 23+1736+69 a-b, p. O. shp., $14.
- N. Y. Civil-Service Reform Assoc. Report of the executive committee; read at the annual meeting, May 7, 1885. N. Y., published for the Civil-Service Reform Assoc., by G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1885. 22 p. D. pap., 3 c.
- Norris, W. E. That terrible man: a novel. N. Y., J. W. Lovell Co., [1885.] 64 p. S. (Lovell's lib., no. 592.) pap., 10 c.
- *Pennsylvania. Supreme court. Reports, v. 105, by Albert A. Outerbridge. V. 9: Jan. term, 1884. N. Y. and Alb., Banks & Bros., 1885. 17+694 p. O. shp., $3.50.
- Pfleiderer, Otto, D.D. The influence of the Apostle Paul on the development of Christianity; tr. by J. F. Smith. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1885. 5+238 p. O. (The Hibbard lectures, 1885.) cl., $2.
- Six lectures, entitled: The first church and the conversion of Paul; The doctrinal teaching of Paul; The conflict of the apostle to the Gentiles with Jewish Christians; The reconciliation of Paulinism and Jewish Christianity; Paulinism and Gnosticism; Paulinism and the church.
- Poore, Ben Perley, comp. Congressional directory, comp. for the use of Congress. 2d ed., corr. to Feb. 11, 1885. Wash., D. C., Government Printing Office, 1885. 212 p. map and 1 il. O. pap., 25c.
- Proctor, R. A., ["Five of Clubs," pseud.] How to play whist; with the laws and etiquette of whist and forty fully annotated games, by Five of Clubs. N. Y., Harper, 1885. 7+199 p. S. (Harper's handy ser., no. 7.) pap., 25 c.
- "The following chapters on the theory and practice of whist originally appeared in Knowledge, and there had the advantage of the criticisms and suggestions of some of the finest exponents of the game. These criticisms have in many cases led to important modifications and improvements. The treatise has no claim to novelty as regards whist principles; in fact, outside the modern signalling system and the absolute rejection of the Singleton lead, there is very little difference between the whist of to-day and the whist of Hoyle and Matthews."—Preface.

Reddall, H. F.: From the Golden Gate to the Golden Horn: a narrative of travel and adventure. N. Y., Phillips & Hunt, 1885. 3-380 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

Describes a journey around the world from New York to San Francisco, by rail, thence by steamer to Honolulu, thence to Japan and China, the East Indies, Australia, Egypt, etc. The travellers are a rich iron manufacturer of New York City and his two sons just fresh from college. There is a great deal of bright conversation, and some exciting adventures.

Superior (A) woman. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1885. 348 p. S. (No name [third] ser.) cl., $1.

In searching through the world for "a superior woman," to fill the place left vacant at his hearth through death, of his dear mother, Richard Thorne overlooks his charming cousin Rosamonde, who has occupied a sister's place in his home for many years. Her aunt's death throws her upon her own resources, and she seeks to gain a living as a governess. Richard continues his search for a wife, thinking frequently he has found his "superior woman," but meeting only with disappointments. The admiration and appreciation of others open his eyes to the noble qualities of his cousin, who has been too modest to pose as other than the ordinary woman. The courtship is not all straight sailing, being made almost a tragedy through the misunderstandings of another couple. The story is one of American life, the scene being in New York and near it.

Tales from many sources. V. 4. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1885. 3-261 p. S. cl., 75c.

Contents: The ten years' tenant, by Walter Besant and Ja. Rice; Truth triumphant, by Margaret Hunt; Bones, by A. Conant Doyle; Two plots, by Findley Muirhead; She loves and lies, by Wilkie Collins; The siege of Berlin, from the French of Daudet; Patient Kitty, by Ja. Payne.

Theology of nature and revelation, by an amateur theologian. N. Y., O. Hutchinson, 1885. 3-55 p. D. pap., 25c.

Thompson, Maurice. At love's extremes. N. Y., Cassell & Co., 1885. 5+266 p. D. cl., $1.

Mr. Thompson is the author of "A Tallahassee girl" and "His second campaign," published anonymously in the "Round-Robin series." In the present novel he deals with life in the mountains of Alabama, and describes most happily its people and scenery. The two heroines are at the two extremes of social life; one, Milly White, a beautiful creature physically, but vacant mentally almost to idiocy, is the daughter of "poor white trash," and a special product of Sand Mountain; Agnes Ransom is refined and highly educated, and at the top of the social ladder. Col. Reynolds, who has passed some years in retirement in the mountains, is singularly influenced by both of these natures. His story is unconventional and well told.

Thomson, Rev. E.: Life of Edward Thomson, D. D., late a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church; by his son. N. Y., Phillips & Hunt, 1885. 336 p. por. D. cl., $1.25.

The subject of this biography was b. 1810, d. 1870; besides being a representative man in the Methodist Episcopal church, he was the author of many religious and educational essays, "Letters from Europe," "Our Oriental missions," and "The evidences of revelation."

Westall, W.: Red Ryvington. N. Y., Cassell & Co., 1885. 8-382 p. S. cl., $1.

The plot is so intricate, and the story so rich in adventures and episodes, that a brief summary gives no idea of the interest of the book. It opens in Switzerland, on the Alps, with a thrilling accident; a carriage is overturned, and one of the occupants is rescued by a young English tourist, while the other is dashed over a precipice. Red Ryvington is thus introduced. He is the son of a Lancashire manufacturer, and in the course of the narrative some admirable pictures are given of Lancashire cotton-spinning life. The second hero, Sergius Ralougia, is a Russian and a Nihilist, who has suffered a living martyrdom at the hands of Russian despotism; the scenes which he relates from his own life are of absorbing interest. Mr. Westall is the author of "Larry Lohengrin" and "The old factory."

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JUNE 13, 1885.

PUBLISHERS are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

The trade are invited to send "Communications" to the editor on any topic of interest to the trade, and as to which an interchange of opinion is desirable. Also, matter for "Notes and Queries" thankfully received.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

VACATIONS AND HALF-HOLIDAYS.

THERE is nothing for which intelligent employers should labor more heartily than the comfort of employés in their business relation. The question of vacation is one which should interest the employer quite as much as the employé; for experience shows it to be almost a universal rule that a capable worker can do more work for his employer in fifty weeks than he can in fifty-two, and that a man with much responsibility and head-work is apt to do as much, if not more, in eleven months than in twelve. The book-trade to-day numbers among its leading men many who can tell by sad experience of the results of overwork, and in our own office there is always present a deep sense of the loss that can come of close application to business too long continued without relaxation. It is a good rule that the heads of business should give themselves at least a month's vacation, and that the hands, which are quite as essential to the business in their way as the head, should have not less than their two weeks' outing. There are many employés whose devotion to their work often causes them even to put aside offers of vacation until a more convenient season, but this is dangerous to the interests of the employer, as well as to the clerk. An employer ought early in the summer to make it part of his duty to arrange that each of his staff should have a fair share of vacation.

The annual endeavor to procure general concert of action in closing the stores in New York City on Saturday afternoon is meeting apparently with more success this year than usual, and this should be an encouragement to those interested in other cities to forward the same good end in their respective localities. It is difficult, in fact, to see any reason why the smaller, as well as the larger, cities, should not make the Saturday half-holiday the general practice. In country places it is not easy to make a hard and fast rule on the subject, as doubtless in many cases buyers use their own Saturday leisure to come to the stores for their purchases.

The book-trade has not been behindhand in this line of progress, and most of the New York book-stores have of recent years closed not later than three, while the English branch houses, following the London custom, as well as one or two American houses, have closed at one o'clock. It has been the practice of this office for many years to close on Saturday afternoon, and during last summer the office was regularly closed at one o'clock, without inconvenience, so far as we could learn, to those who had dealings with us. The New York movement, the present year, has for its immediate purpose the closing of all shops at one o'clock. This hour is almost invariably the closing hour in London, and the trade there seems to suffer no inconvenience. It has the advantage of giving employés a clear half day in the afternoon, and of enabling the employer to have a long full morning into which to compress his day's business. We fail to see that anything is lost on either side, while much is gained on both, by giving the time from one to three, part of which is otherwise consumed by the break for luncheon, to be a part of the half-holiday. Plenty of fresh air, plenty of leisure, are the best preparation for plenty of work.

THE trade and readers of books welcome cordially into the publishing fraternity the new firm with the old and honored name of Ticknor & Co. The associations of the name are of great honor and of long standing, and if the misfortune which has caused the retirement of Mr. Osgood's name from the business which he led had to come, it is, at least, some compensation that so much of its membership will remain in connection with the list of books published by James R. Osgood & Co. Mr. Osgood himself has made so many friends that the announcement of his withdrawal, like the announcement of the misfortune of the firm of which he was the head, will be received with wide regret; but his experience and dash will not be lost to the trade, as he has formed a connection with Messes. Harper & Brothers.

WE remind the educational publishers who have not yet sent in their corrected lists for the Educational Catalogue that such lists should be received at once, to enable us to make the Catalogue complete and correct. It is impossible to do bibliographical work properly unless we have co-operation to this extent, and the publishers who delay sending us returns promptly, embarrass us greatly in work which serves them in serving the trade. A leading house has suggested the desirability of introducing in the Educational Catalogue a telegraphic cipher for ordering school books. We should be glad to learn to what extent this would be of service to the retail trade, as we desire to make the Catalogue as complete as its sources of revenue permit. Whether it is practicable to add this feature, should it prove generally desired, will depend very much upon the support received for the Catalogue this year from the educational trade.

We are receiving some complaints from subscribers to the American Catalogue that they have not yet received copies ordered by them in parts. In each case we have found that the complainants have neglected to respond to our repeated inquiries as to how they desired their Catalogues shipped, or have failed in other respects to give us the necessary orders for delivery. The bound volumes we expect to deliver during the coming week. We have also received since the final part was issued a number of corrections of the first alphabet, which was completed and sent out last year. Many of these "corrections" refer to books entered in the original American Catalogue, or published since July 1, 1884, despite our repeated statement as to the limits of the present work. The recent corrections have, of course, come too late for the errata sheet, but we are shaping them editorially so as to have them on record, and if there prove to be enough, we may issue an insert page to cover them. The total number of corrections, so far received, is, however, surprisingly few. If the smaller publishers, in especial, who usually suspect favoritism when their books are not recorded, will simply take the trouble which the larger publishers take, of supplying either their books or the titles of them to the office, they will have no cause of complaint.

WE remind dealers that we have still a few hundred copies of the Summer Catalogue for imprint use. This has proved a useful help to both city booksellers and those in summer resorts, and we shall honor orders for the few hundred remaining in the order of receipt.

THE REVISED BIBLE IN ENGLAND.

From the Pall Mall Gazette, May 16.

WE received last night early copies of the new version of the Old Testament, and before comparing it with the Authorized Version we may give some additional calculations about the materials of the Revised Bible, which will perhaps be of interest: At the Oxford University's own paper mill, which is situated at Wolvercote, near Oxford, three hundred and seventy-five tons of rags have been consumed in making two hundred and fifty tons of paper for this issue of the Revised Version. It would cover two and a quarter square miles. It would go round the world in a strip of six inches wide, or say, if the pages were laid open one after another, it would go round the world. The sheets piled in reams as they leave the mill would make a column ten times the height of St. Paul's or folded into books before binding at least one hundred times the height. The copies which are being prepared by the Oxford University Press alone would, if piled flat one upon another, make a column more than fourteen miles high, or three hundred and seventy times the height of the monument. If piled end on end they would reach seventy-four miles high, or nineteen hundred and forty-three times the height of the monument. It is hardly possible to give an idea of the number of goats and sheep whose skins have been required for binding the copies, but it has been calculated that fifteen hundred and sixty goat skins have been used in binding the copies, which will be presented by the American Committee of Revision on the 21st inst. A special act of Congress has been passed to admit these copies into the United States free of duty.

REMOVAL OF GREASE SPOTS FROM BOOKS AND ENGRAVINGS.

From the Paper and Printing Trades' Journal.

GREASE spots, if old, may be removed by applying a solution of varying strength of caustic potash upon the back of the leaf. The printing, which looks somewhat faded after the removal of the spot, may be freshened up by the application of a mixture of one part of muriatic acid and twenty-five parts of water. In the case of fresh grease spots, carbonate of potassa, (one part to thirty parts of water,) chloroform, ether, or benzine, renders good service. Wax disappears if, after saturating with benzine or turpentine, it is covered with folded blotting paper, and a hot flat-iron put upon it. Paraffine is removed by boiling water or hot spirits. Ink spots or rust yield to oxalic acid in combination with hot water; chloride of gold or silver spots, to a weak solution of corrosive sublimate or cyanide of potassium. Sealing wax is dissolved by hot spirits, and then rubbed off with ossa sepiæ. Indian ink is slightly brushed over with oil, and after twelve hours saponified with salmiac; any particles of color still remaining must be removed with rubber. Blood stains disappear after the application for twenty minutes of chloride of lime; the yellowish stain still remaining yields to a weak acid. Fresh spots of paste are removed with a moist sponge, older ones with hot water. Fusty stains of yellowish color surrounded with a darker line disappear if the paper is bathed in clean water to which some chloride of lime has been added. If they are found in bound books, linen damped in the same liquid is placed on both sides of the discolored leaves, while the latter are separated from the other leaves by tinfoil. As soon as the spots have disappeared, the linen and tinfoil are removed, the leaves placed between blotting paper, and the book is closed. If there are many fusty spots in the book, the binding is taken off, and the whole volume placed for a night in chloric water. The separated parts are then hung up to dry, and the book freshly bound. If the spots are large, and dotted with black points, tartaric acid is applied.

TICKNOR &amp; CO.

From the Boston Advertiser.

THE reading public will learn with pleasure that the long familiar, but of late long absent, imprint of Ticknor & Co. may be expected to appear soon again upon American title-pages, where it will be most welcome. Not that many pleasant associations are not connected with the names of Fields, Osgood & Co. and of James R. Osgood & Co.; but these brought no immediate memories of the old original house of which Boston was justly proud, and which, with William D. Ticknor at its head, set the example of that honest comity between publisher and author which, wherever it extended, left no room for any need of international treaties. It is agreeable to think that the name which disappeared when the elder of Mr. Ticknor's sons withdrew from business is now to be restored to the trade and to the world of readers by his two younger sons, brought up to their work, and highly reputed for taste, ability, and honorable character. Rarely has any mercantile embarrassment stirred such interest and sympathy in this community as that of Messrs. Osgood & Co.; and it is rare in any community that an investigating committee of creditors has indorsed so heartily the methods of a debtor firm, so absolutely acquitted it of any foolish or speculative transaction and so warmly commended the plans of its successors to encouragement and support. The general disposition of the creditors is most favorable to the new firm, and the wish is widespread in the community, that, before many days, the formal adjustment may be made and the house of Ticknor & Co. begin a new career which shall more than parallel that which the founder of the business conducted.

J. P. MORTON'S GIFT TO LOUISVILLE.

JOHN P. MORTON, the well-known publisher and bookseller, went to Louisville a poor young man, and soon after his arrival there was taken dangerously ill, and suffered severely from lack of means and friendlessness among strangers. He resolved at that time that, should he ever attain prosperity, he would make provision for others that might be circumstanced as he was.

This resolve has now shaped itself into a handsome five-story building that stands on Morton Ave., between Baxter and Barrett aves., and is the first public monument erected for charitable purposes by a private citizen in Louisville, Ky. For four years this home for the sick, the helpless, and friendless has been building, and it is pronounced as complete in its appointments as any institution in the country. The corner-stone was laid by Bishop Dudley in 1881, and the house was quietly opened for the reception of inmates on Thursday, May 28. The institution is planned to shelter old women and old men, young women out of employment, and to furnish hospital treatment to the sick. The work is not sectarian, but catholic in its fullest and noblest meaning. Mr. Morton's gift is designed for those only who are really worthy or suffering. He has provided the building, but it is not endowed, and the success of its management depends on the freewill offerings of the people of Louisville. Mr. Morton has done enough, and his fellow-citizens will doubtless take pride in the magnificent gift to their city, and come forward to make it possible to use the structure for the purposes for which it has been admirably planned and fitted out.

THE "ON APPROVAL" SYSTEM IN GERMANY.

IT is a custom of the German booksellers to send parcels with new books "on approval" to their customers, who return what they do not wish to keep, in longer or shorter periods, settling their accounts at stated times or at the close of the year. This custom has been in practice between a bookseller and a manufacturer at Worms, who was considered a very good customer, as he never returned any books sent to him. After the continuance of the practice for some years, the bookseller tendered his bill, and wanted to be paid for it; but the good customer turned out to be a bad one, saying he had not ordered the books, did not want them, nor did he want to pay for them, and as the bookseller, who could not return them to their publishers, refused to take them back, and insisted on being paid, took the matter into court. The decision of the Court of First Instance not satisfying the plaintiff, a higher was resorted to, with the same result. The judgment given was to the effect that as there existed no law obliging any man to return books he had not ordered, he could not be held responsible for them, nor payment for them enforced upon him. The plaintiff had to bear the consequences, and his suit was dismissed.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

From (Toronto) Books and Notions.

NEVER stand by talking politics in your shop and leave a clerk to wait on your customer. Make it a rule, when possible, to wait on every customer yourself, because you can do it better than your clerk, and your customer is pleased to see you come forward and serve him. He feels he is of some importance, and wants your attention, and if you are careless he will go to some more attentive or better-managed store.

BOOKSELLERS, weed out of your business the poor-paying stuff. Never push any goods that only yield twenty per cent, for your expenses eat up the whole of it. You are carrying a load and have to develop the paying portion of your trade. Develop that part of your business that pays best. Don't mind if your competitor undersells you. Be civil, honest and fair with your customers every time, and you will win and your competitor fail.

THE old-fashioned bookseller sold "Handy Andy" and such two-shilling novels at sixty and seventy cents, at a profit to him of forty per cent. The modern bookseller sells the same works in the shape of Seaside libraries, at ten and twenty cents each—profit twenty per cent—has to pay all the cost of express, shop expenses, theft, bad debts, out of the twenty per cent. Is it any wonder he is poor and likely to remain so?

NOTES ON CATALOGUES.

WE have received "A list of books recommended for Sunday-school and parish libraries, selected from the catalogues issued by the church Library Association, Cambridge, Mass. The catalogue is arranged by subjects, and will no doubt prove a handy guide for such as have little time to find out for themselves which books ought to be suitable for the Sunday-school or parish libraries. (73 p. S.)

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Edinburgh Review (Leonard Scott Pub. Co.), in its April instalment, gives articles on "Land Tenure in Scotland;" "Prince Bismarck, Sketched by his Secretary;" "The Maritime Alps;" "The Army of India;" "India—What Can it Teach Us?" "Past and Present State of the Navy;" "Three Reform Bills;" "Life and Letters of George Eliot," and "Letters of the Marquise de Coigny."

FROM the advance pages of the 1885 edition of the "American Newspaper Directory," to be issued this month by George P. Rowell & Co., it appears that there are 14,147 newspapers and periodicals published in the United States and Canada; of these the United States has 12,973, an average of one paper for every 3867 persons. In 1884 the total number of newspapers was less by 823 than at present, and while the gain this year is not so marked as in some previous years, it is still considerable. Kansas shows the greatest increase, the number being 78, while Illinois follows with a gain of 77.

The Fortnightly Review for May (Leonard Scott Pub. Co.) has articles on "Peace or War," by Sir Lepel Griffen; "Mr. Swinburne's Poetry," by W. L. Courtney; "Conservatives on Themselves," by George C. T. Bartley, and George N. ## HUMORS OF THE TRADE.

A COOK BOOK.—Scene: Robert Clark & Co.'s book-store, Cincinnati. Enter countryman, who walked up to salesman and says: "Look yer, mister, my wife says that 'ere cook-book is no good!"

Salesman. What cook-book?

Countryman. Why, this 'ere one. My wife says she understands her p's and q's, but this 'ere darned book is all full of 'em, so she can't make head nor tail of 'em.

Salesman. Cook-book! why, that's Cook's "Synopsis of Chess Openings," a book on a game that is played among a certain class of people.

Countryman. Yer don't say so? Why, I thought it war a cook-book, and Chess Openings war the feller's name wot got it up!—Southern Trade Gazette.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MME. ADELINA PATTI is busily engaged upon a series of articles for Harper. They are largely autobiographical.

MR. O. B. BUNCE has begun in the Christian Union a series of papers entitled "Easy Talks about Many Things."

THE author of that clever novel, "The Wearing of the Green," has just finished another, entitled "A Coquette's Conquest."

MISS SUSAN ANNA BROWN died recently at Evanston, Ill. She was a writer of children's stories for St. Nicholas and Wide Awake, and author of "Forty Puddings," "Mrs. Gilpin's Frugalities," "The Invalid's Tea-tray," and several other books on similar subjects.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE GROLIER CLUB has issued "The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam."

THE AMERICAN News Co. has published "The Life and Times of John Kelly," by J. Fairfax McLaughlin.

E. B. TREAT, N. Y., has in press a book by Dr. W. W. Everts, entitled "The Sabbath: Its Permanence and Promise."

MR. WILLIAM H. WILEY, of John Wiley & Sons, is expected back from London on Saturday the 13th inst., after a very successful business trip.

THE DETROIT FREE PRESS PUBLISHING CO. announces a subscription book, entitled "Field, Fort, and Fleet," sketches of the late war, (1861-1863,) by "M. Quad."

JOHN D. ROSS, 419 West Forty-eighth St., N. Y., has in preparation a collection of "Celebrated Songs of Scotland, from King James V. to Henry Scott Riddell," edited with memoirs, notes, glossary, and an index. The book will be sold by subscription, price $2.50.

HENRY HOLT & CO. will publish this month "Biographical Sketches of the Graduates of Yale College, with Annals of the College History, from October, 1701, to May, 1745," by Franklin Bowditch Dexter. The work is printed in a limited edition, and sold only by subscription.

W. L. MERSHON & CO., Rahway, N. J., are about to publish for the author "A Lone Star Bo-peep, and Other Tales of Texan Ranch Life," by Howard Seely, a recent graduate of Yale and former editor of the Yale Literary Magazine. Mr. Seely, having spent some time among the sheep and cattle ranches of the South-west, is familiar with the life and characteristics of the region he describes.

J. S. OGILVIE & CO. have issued No. 18 of Ogilvie's Popular Reading, comprising the following stories: "The Secret Sorrow," by May Agnes Fleming; "My Life's Ransom," by Miss Mulock; "His Love and Fortune," by Emma S. Southworth; "Far Too Clever," "Anne," by Mrs. Henry Wood; "Nellie's Mistake," and the first part of "Diary of a Minister's Wife," by Almedia M. Brown.

THE new Connecticut law against "flash" literature, which has just gone into effect, imposes a fine of $50 or less, and imprisonment for three months or less, or both, at the discretion of the court, upon every person who shall sell, lend, give or offer, or have in his possession with intent to sell, lend, give or offer, any book, magazine, pamphlet or paper devoted wholly or principally to the publication of criminal news, or pictures and stories of deeds of bloodshed, lust, or crime.

THE first volume of General Grant's book is now completed, and much of the second volume is in his hands of his publishers, Charles L. Webster & Co., of New York. In large type, the first volume makes about five hundred pages. For its frontispiece it has a steel portrait engraved from a daguerreotype taken at Bethel, in Ohio, in 1843, when General Grant was just arrived at manhood. Besides a great number of maps, plans, and reproductions of manuscript documents, the volume contains an etching by W. E. Marshall of General Grant's birthplace in Point Pleasant, Ohio.

D. APPLETON & CO., publishers of "The Nature and Reality of Religion," over which Herbert Spencer and Frederic Harrison have been holding an animated controversy in England, were surprised on the 5th inst. by the receipt of a cablegram from Mr. Spencer ordering them to stop the sale of the book, to destroy the stock on hand and the stereotype plates, and to debit him with their loss. Professor E. L. Youmans, the editor of the work, was asked by a reporter of the N. Y. Times whether Mr. Spencer's order would be obeyed. "We shall take no steps in the matter," said the professor, "until we have seen the letters and had more explanations than we now have. Of course, if Mr. Spencer gives good reasons for suppressing the book we shall do it; but as neither Spencer nor Harrison has any copyright control of their productions, it will rest with the publishers to take such action as the case may require. I edited the work because there was a call for it here, and, in order to prevent it being brought out in a cheap 15 cent edition, I wrote to Mr. Spencer about it, because I knew he would not interfere with the project; and I did not write to Mr. Harrison, because he would very likely have refused to give his consent, and that would have defeated the publication."

J. & R. MAXWELL, London, announce a new novelette by Ouida, entitled "A Rainy June."

CHAPMAN & HALL talk of publishing a uniform edition of Mr. George Meredith's novels, the great majority of which are quite out of print.

THE numerous illustrations in Mr. Crawhall's forthcoming book on fishing, entitled "Izaak Walton, His Wallett Booke" (to be issued by Field & Tuer, London), are to be separately hand colored, and after the hundred large paper copies are worked off, the engraved boxwood blocks are to be used as pendants to silk book-markers, one to each book.

THE Philological Society, says the Athenaeum, makes an appeal for subscriptions to relieve Dr. Murray from a debt of 500<sup>l.</sup>, incurred in preparing the first part of the "New English Dictionary." Owing to the liberality of the Clarendon Press, the payments to be made henceforth are greatly increased, but on the first part Dr. Murray underestimated his expenses so greatly that he contracted the debt mentioned. There is a fair prospect of the sum being made up.

BOOKS WANTED.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address, in each issue. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, as well as repeated matter, must be charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Copy for this Department must reach us Wednesday Evening to be in time for insertion in same week's issue.

It is desirable to receive copy in shape ready for the printer, viz.: first, headline-name and address—then, titles in separate lines (see below), all written on detached slips, or at the bottom of letter, or on postal card. Compliance with this request will secure accurate and prompt insertion.

Carlyle

We propose to publish during the present summer the best edition of CARLYLE'S COMPLETE WORKS which has ever been issued at less than four times the price we shall charge for it. It will be uniform in style with the Illustrated Library Edition of Ruskin's works, which is being welcomed by press and purchasers with such rare words of praise.

A SPECIMEN VOLUME.—On June 15 we shall publish the first volume of the set containing the following of his most celebrated works :

SARTOR RESARTUS.
PAST and PRESENT.
The DIAMOND NECKLACE.
MIRABEAU.

The type used in this edition is a large, beautiful, leaded Long Primer, the paper of good weight and fine quality ; the size of the volume, small octavo, gives a handsome margin ; the binding is the perfection of good taste—fine cloth, Library style, gilt top, beveled boards. The regular mailing price of the volume will be $1.44. As the best possible means of making this edition favorably known, we shall, for a short time, sell this specimen volume at retail for the nominal price of $1.00 ; to dealers, the net introduction price will be 70 cents.

HUGH P. MCELRONE.

In two large 8vo volumes, from bold handsome type. Volume I. contains—besides a memoir of Bishop England, memorials of respect after his death, and a finely engraved frontispiece portrait of the great prelate—his literary and historical productions which have been admired for their eloquence and power by millions. Volume II. contains his controversial writings, which are replete with theological knowledge and keen humor.

The index has been carefully prepared according to the modern conception, and will be found most useful and complete.

The two volumes will be delivered, free of expense, for $5.00 in cloth, and for $7.50 in half Turkey or half calf.

BOOKS FOR THE YOUNG.

A GUIDE FOR PARENTS AND CHILDREN. Second Edition, with Revisions to Date. Compiled by Miss C. M. HEWINS, Librarian of the Hartford Library Association.

"Meets most admirably the demand for carefully selected lists, and contains valuable and interesting counsel."—W. E. FOSTER.

"By far the best catalogue of books of this kind that has ever appeared."—S. S. GREEN.

"Deserves more extended praise than we have space for. It will bring joy to the hearts of hundreds of parents."—NATION.

"For them (the parents), as well as for librarians and teachers, the book will serve an excellent purpose, for it is by far the best guide that has been printed, and there is nothing in it that is not of excellent and interesting quality."—BOSTON TRANSCRIPT.

"A little manual long needed. A classified list of good books is given, with indications as to age and sex to which they are best suited. The list is prefaced by hints as to how children should be taught the right use of books, a note on good reading in English and American history for children, and a 'symposium' on children's books, containing interesting extracts from many sources. Miss Hewins may safely be accepted as an authority and guide by parents and buyers of children's books."—GOOD LITERATURE.
